Are you presenting a poster at CLVS2024?

We have teamed up with a local company, ConferencePosters.ca, who will offer discounted poster printing for attendees, with direct-to-conference delivery. ConferencePosters.ca offers paper and fabric printing at great rates, free templates to help you get started, and free quality checks and reports, to make poster printing easy and stress-free. Simply visit <https://conferenceposters.ca/> and select “Shop Now”, then choose the type of poster you would like printed and the size of poster you would like to print. You will be able to upload your poster file on the product page before proceeding to the cart and checkout. Poster files should be submitted as a PDF. You can add multiple posters to your order before proceeding to checkout. On the Checkout page, there is a field (just above the section where you add your billing information) where you can add the coupon code CLVS2024. This will automatically apply a 10% discount to your order. Once you have entered your billing information, you can leave “ship to a different address” unchecked, and then choose “Delivery to CLVS 2024 Summit at Blue Mountain – Sept 26th” from the shipping options below. You will receive confirmation that your poster order has been received and a report indicating any quality issues (e.g. pixelated images or stretched fonts), with an opportunity to edit before printing. Once you approve the final version, your poster will be printed and you will receive another email confirmation, providing assurance at every step.

For CLVS 2024, ConferencePosters.ca asks that all poster orders are submitted by Monday September 23rd (by 5pm), to allow time for review and processing. All poster orders for CLVS 2024, will include free delivery to the CLVS Summit at Blue Mountain ahead of the event, and will be individually packaged and labeled for distributed at the conference.

Please feel free to contact Chris Lange directly at chris@conferenceposters.ca if you have any questions about printing, or if you are having trouble starting your poster design, would like a quality check of your poster prior to ordering, or would like to request free samples of their materials.
